Van:

Herewith the proposed text
of your statement before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

I have indicated my suggested changes in pencil and have freely deleted, changed, and added.

It is still longer than I would desire but you must say enough to satisfy the record and provide a basis for questions the answers to which will be to our interests.

I have been more frank with regard to clandestine intelligence
than normally - but feel you must back it on the record.
With a final editing I feel it is OK.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. PFORZHEIMER:

Subject: Proposed Text of the Director Before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

1. At your request I have read your proposed text of the Director's testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee on S758.
2. You know best what is required, ^{but} in my opinion for most purposes this sort of statement should be ten and not twenty pages.
3. I have circled those words to which I object.
4. I have question-marked those sections raising doubt in my mind, either as to their meaning or their appropriateness. I have parenthesized those words, sections, and paragraphs which I think should be omitted. I think you have missed a bet by not emphasizing the degree to which this country was required to lean on the British intelligence at the beginning of the war.
